INNOVATIVE AND RESULTS-ORIENTED SALES LEADER

Mike is a proud Notre Dame alumnus and four-year member of the Fighting Irish Football team. Over the course of his professional career, Mike has built an exceptional record in medical and industrial sales, driving multimillion-dollar growth and establishing long-term partnerships across hospitals, distributors, and government accounts.

After years of leading national accounts and developing new markets, Mike is exploring opportunities in technology sales, business development, or strategic partnerships that align with his passion for innovation, relationship-building, and measurable results. He welcomes connections with professionals and organizations in these industries who share his commitment to performance and integrity.
